Atrocities in Ireland are Denied in Detail by the Chief Secretary.

IRISH MISSION CONTRADICTED

Charges of Cruelty are Absolutely Stated Untrue.

Halting of Members at Westport is Explained.

Entire Educational System is Borne by England.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The report of the Irish American commission, Walsh and Dunne, on conditions in Ireland, is dealt with in detail in the following statement of Sir James Macpherson, chief secretary for Ireland, the full text of which has just been received in Washington.

Under the headings "Allegations" and "Facts" the statement of the chief secretary presents the charges made by the Irish American delegates and the government replies thereto, the two documents being printed paragraph by paragraph in parallel columns.

Charges of cruelty in the treatment of prisoners are denied absolutely and in detail. The incident at Westport is explained. Ireland is shown not only to have an educational system, but one which depends for its maintenance on the United Kingdom taxpayer. Some interesting history is given of the methods of Great Britain in dealing with the participants in the Easter rebellion of 1916, and others convicted of pro-German activities, all of whom have now been released, and the reply contrasted with the following "allegation" (a) and "fact" (f):

"ALLEGATION" AND "FACT."

"(a) With a ferocity unparalleled in the history of modern warfare within the last few days, men and women have been shot down in the streets of Dublin."

"(f) Unfortunately, four policemen and a girl have been shot in the streets of Dublin within the past few days by a number of Sinn Féin men, who rescued a Sinn Féin prisoner from the police. The police fired no shots."

The government's reply was issued from Dublin Castle, June 14, eight days after the publication of the Walsh-Dunne report. It replies to the "allegations" and "facts" in part as follows:

"(a) Crossed the Irish line from Holyhead to Dundee, came on the first evidence of the military occupation of Ireland. The vessels and wharves were guarded by soldiers fully equipped for the field, going to and coming from Dublin."

"(f) On the date 174 men were demobilized and left Ireland; sixty-five (65) (Irish fishermen) for demobilization arrived in Ireland on the same day. No soldiers arrived at Kingston as reinforcements on that date."

"(a) There are approximately 18,000 members of the Royal Irish constabulary. The constabulary is a branch of the military forces. They are armed with rifles as well as small arms, and are in regular drill and field maneuvers. They are never residents of the districts which they occupy and have quarters in regular government barracks."

"(f) The strength of the Royal Irish constabulary is 18,000 men. It is not a branch of the military forces of the crown, though armed with rifles and side arms; it practices drill and field maneuvers. The constabulary are not natives of the district in which they serve; the unmarried members live in small houses, barracks and the married men sometimes in private houses."

MOUNT JOY PRISON.

"(a) Mount Joy prison contained a large number of political prisoners, many of them men of the highest character and standing."

"(f) At the date of the visit of the delegates to Mount Joy prison, the total number of prisoners was twenty-eight persons, consisting of one biscuit maker, one candlemaker, one cooper, one coach builder, one carpenter, one cycle and motor dealer, one engine driver, one factory hand, four farmers, two fitter, one laborer, one mason, two journalists, one painter, one news vendor, one player, one shoemaker, one storekeeper, one tailor, two university students, and one of no occupation."

"(a) The political prisoners were confined for the most part in groups, the majority of them being locked up in steel cages, built in the yards of the prison entirely outside of the buildings proper. These cages are exact duplicates of the cages used for wild animals in the larger zoological gardens."

"(f) There is no foundation for this allegation. Each prisoner has a properly equipped cell in the prison block, heated with hot water pipes, lighted and equipped with books. The prisoners take exercise in portions of the prison grounds, which are inclosed with iron railings instead of the customary high walls, but these inclosures in no way resemble cages in zoological gardens."

"(a) The cost of Irish education to the United Kingdom taxpayer, as shown by the votes of Parliament, is for 1915-16—$3,892,234 pounds. The votes for Irish police, 1915-16, amount to 2,585,267 pounds."

"(f) A lack of decent clothing and under nourishment is keeping thousands of children out of school."

"(f) This statement is quite untrue. Ireland is an agricultural country and has profited by the war. There have been practically no food restrictions and for these reasons it is believed the children have been better fed than those in other parts of Europe. The statement that thousands have been kept from school for want of clothing is a fabrication. As a matter of fact, local authorities have orders to feed school children from the rates if they think it necessary to do so, and when it is done the government pays half the cost. In the larger towns the urban authorities avail themselves of this aid."

PACIFIC FLEET MAIL REACHES SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO, July 20.—Mail addressed to officers and men of the Pacific fleet, which left Hampton Roads yesterday for the Pacific, is beginning to arrive here. Clerks at the local postoffice expect to have several hundred sacks of mail stacked up before the fleet is here.

Some of the more important mail, it is expected, will be delivered to the fleet by seaplane some distance south of this port.

green and the investigation of the Mexican situation scheduled for Tuesday before the Rules Committee of the House probably will include this latest development in a long series of Mexican outrages against Americans and American interests.

FALL IS BARCASTIC.

Senator Fall of New Mexico, who commented briefly last night on the robbing of American sailors on the Tampo River, had functioned remarks to make regarding it.

"State Department officials are wrong," he said, "when they say this is the most serious incident since Vera Cruz. Why are they excited, anyhow? Such things are everyday occurrences here."

But seriously, the new incident is not nearly so grave as that which occurred in January, 1914, when two American sailors were killed by the landing at Vera Cruz to avenge the arrest of American sailors at Tampico.

Statements of the lieutenant who first spoke to the delegates addressed them in a surly tone; they were treated with great rudeness, but were not even a minister of the crown, was entitled to enter a military area without special permission. The passports which the delegates had did not entitle them to enter.

Statements of the lieutenant charged broadly that "police and soldiers are habitually permitted to enter cells where political prisoners are confined and to beat them with clubs," that "solitary confinement in most horrible form is generally practiced."

The delegates said numerous prisoners had been removed to insane asylums "rendered maniacs by the treatment" and that "large bodies of political prisoners, in certain jails, have been kept without any food whatever for days at a time."

All these charges are answered with the repeated direct denial, "these statements are absolutely untrue."

THE HOSE INCIDENT.

One of the charges in the report for instance dealing with an alleged atrocity in Mt. Joy prison, is stated as follows:

"(a) During the past winter and spring streams of ice-cold water were poured upon men confined in jail and they were compelled to lie all night on cold floors in unheated cells in their wet clothing. Many of them were afterward removed to outside hospitals, suffering from pneumonia."

The following statements are untrue. The following constitutes the only pretext for making such a charge: On one occasion in February last four prisoners in Mt. Joy prison, after exercise, instead of returning to their cells, climbed up to a ledge upon the roof of one of the wings of the prison. They could not be reached or moved to the ledge, and after being repeatedly cautioned that if they did not come down the ledge would be used, they came down, and after being repeatedly cautioned that if they did not come down, to use it. They did come down. The incident occurred in the rear of the prison. The clothing of these prisoners. Two of them availed themselves of the change of clothing. The medical officer took charge of the other two, and had one removed to the hospital, and the other to bed. No illness resulted to any of the prisoners."

EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.

Other "allegations" and "facts" are as follows:

"(a) If England ever had an educational system in Ireland, it has completely broken down. The Irish people are taxed more for the support of the police and constabulary—though the country is practically crimeless in the ordinary sense—than they are for the maintenance of the whole educational system of Ireland, including the upkeep of the national university and Trinity College, as well as all the primary and other schools in the land."

"(f) The Irish system of primary education is wholly Irish—no more so than that of the United States. In Ireland (except for technical education with a maximum of two pence in the pound) and the whole of Irish primary education falls on votes or parliament—that is, the United Kingdom taxpayer."

"In England and Scotland some fifty per cent. of the cost of education falls on the local rate payers; the Irish rate payers pay nothing. Though the cost of the system falls wholly on the United Kingdom taxpayer, the State is not able to appoint a single teacher (except in the model schools); the appointment of teachers rests solely with the local manager; that is, with the individual Irishman."

COMMITTEE TO ACT.

An investigating committee of the Mexican situation is set for Tuesday before the Rules Committee of the House.

The resolution under consideration is one introduced by Representative Gould, New York, providing for the appointment of a joint select committee of the Senate and the House, to make a thorough inquiry into the conditions in Mexico affecting the United States.

Under the resolution three members of the committee would be selected by the Committee on Foreign Relations of the House and three by the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the Senate. A number of witnesses will be heard, including Henry P. Fletcher, American Ambassador to Mexico, and several persons who have been asked by Representative Gould to tell of conditions in Mexico.

STRUCKERS OF INQUIRY.

The subjects into which the joint committee would inquire, if appointed, would be the following as set forth in the resolution:

The relations, economic, political and military, of the government of the United States with the republic of Mexico from 1914 until the date of the report.

Conditions and incidents leading up to, concerned in or responsible for such relations.

The economic, political and physical treatment accorded American and other foreign citizens in Mexico and elsewhere as to their lives and liberty in Mexico, subsequent to 1910.

The extent to which the government of the United States, through the Ministry of State, has endeavored to secure the restoration of the government of Mexico, or otherwise, has obligated the people of the United States.

EXAMINE BOMBS BY X-RAYS IN FUTURE.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Bombs sent by anarchists to public officials or others and which fail to explode will be examined in future by X-rays by government experts before being opened. This announcement was made today following a conference between New York police officers and representatives of the United States Bureau of Mines. Valuable clues to the senders of the bombs will be obtained in this way, it is expected.

and delivery of war material, and an international commission for military control established until a stable government is set up.

MUST SETTLE BEFORE PEACE.

At the same time it would be made known that the Entente is ready and willing to negotiate with Hungary on the basis of a new Hungarian government which would help Hungary to re-establish itself socially and economically.

If the demands of the Entente are not met, the Entente will have stepped out of the Hungarian problem and will have lost the power to control her course and the Hungarian question unsolved and without paying the way toward future events.

TURKEY'S FATE HOLDS UP BULGARIAN TREATY

REPARATIONS TO RUMANIANS AND SERBIANS ARE TO BE 2,000,000,000 FRANCES.

(BY CABLE.—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

PARIS, July 20.—The Bulgarian treaty is being delayed owing to the fact that certain clauses are contingent upon the disposition made of Turkey, and the Turkish question cannot then be approached until President Wilson finds out from Congress if the United States will accept the mandates for Constantinople and Armenia.

However, it is announced that the Bulgarian treaty will name reparations somewhere between 1,000,000,000 and 2,000,000,000 francs, which will be divided between the Rumanians and Serbians, with the Greeks getting a share for damages as a result of the Bulgarian invasion of a small part of Greece.

The council of five is awaiting a reply from President Wilson regarding his attitude toward continuing the blockade of the Russian Bolsheviks.

The French, Poles, Czechs, Rumanians and even the Germans favor keeping the ports of Russia closed until the Bolsheviks are crushed, as it is feared war material will be smuggled into Russia if the blockade is lifted. Even if arms and munitions are kept out the Bolsheviks will be able to keep their people if they feed them, whereas at present, owing to lack of food and all other supplies, even the Bolsheviks are becoming restless.

WILSON WILL OPPOSE CHAMBERLAIN'S RACE.

WESTERN DEMOCRATIC SENATORS MAY BACK HIM FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Senator George B. Chamberlain of Oregon may have the backing of a group of western Democratic Senators as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency. This has been announced here by Senator King of Utah and while the Chamberlain candidacy is not formally launched, it is expected it will be soon.

Senator Chamberlain, as chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, recently antagonized many of the administration policies in the war. He was an open critic of both the President and Secretary Baker and was one of the men Congress who declared against existing army court-martial methods.

Senator Chamberlain's friends say he has pursued too independent and courageous a course to be forgiven by the administration and his candidacy is expected to encounter a White House hostility from the beginning.

BORDER TROOPS READY TO START

Southern Department Ready for Offensive.

Plenty of Supplies in San Antonio Warehouses.

Motor Truck Fleet Can be Used in Intervention.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) July 20.—Discussion of possible intervention in Mexico by the United States government is being closely watched by the military authorities in the Southern Department at Fort Sam Houston.

Should the intervention be decided upon, there will be no delay in getting troops and supplies to the border for at no time in its history has the Southern Department been so well equipped to launch a prompt and decisive offensive. The government has here not only men, munitions and an abundance of all supplies, but also a personnel of officers with border experience and an organization which can handle any emergency.

Brig.-Gen. De Rosey C. Cabell, head of the department, is a border veteran of years of experience. He was recently decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal for his action at Nogales, Ariz., last summer when his men drove the Mexican army out of the border town.

The punitive expedition demonstrated that any invasion of Mexico must involve the operation of thousands of motor trucks. The Pershing line of communication during the 1917 expedition was kept open by motor truck fleets, which made daily trips from Columbus, N. M., as a base, to the Pershing advance outposts at Villa Ahumada and Casa Grande. The government could, within forty-eight hours, move to the border 10,000 trucks. Across from Kelly Field, no longer needed for aviation purposes, are covered by motor trucks delivered after the armistice. While some of these are held for the Postoffice Department and for road work under Federal plans, the number which has actually been taken over for these purposes is insignificant.

Not alone would the government have the trucks, but it would have the trained men needed to operate them. The Motor Transport Corps, with headquarters at Fort Sam Houston and with five concrete and steel shops at Camp Normandy, has not had its forces depleted to any appreciable extent by demobilization. There were, to be sure, many applications granted under circular 77, but as fast as men were discharged others, who had enlisted or, as in many instances re-enlisted specifically for this branch of the service, filled the vacancies. Men were eager for the technical training offered in the Normandy shops and in Repair Unit 204 at Fort Sam Houston. In this great shop repairing of all sorts of army material is made. Mechanics in the enlisted personnel can repair a typewriter to a long-range gun.

AIR FORCES READY.

The air forces, too, are ready for quick transport to the border. The enlisted personnel at Kelly Field is practically 1000 men, all of whom have had at least a year's training. There are thousands of planes stored in the field, coming from the air fields which were abandoned or delivered by manufacturers after the armistice.

At Brooks Field, the blimp balloons have been trained crews and are also 100 men trained in such work as balloon observation work.

Port Sam Houston has the thirteenth Cavalry, composed of men who have had border work. Quartered there are the remnants of the Third and Ninth Cavalry regiments. While these did not have foreign service, they are all border veterans and are sent to the frontier at an early date.

At Camp Stanley in the Fourth Field Artillery, known as the Mountain Artillery, composed of men who fought through the Philippine insurrection, were on border duty during the troubles.

The arsenal, to which many important additions were made during the war, has vast quantities of munitions and facilities for any amount needed.

In army circles there is no apprehension in regard to the intervention. The Southern Department is prepared for any emergency.

DUBLIN, July 20.—When I landed in Dublin yesterday morning and drove through the silent, deserted streets, I formed the opinion that it was a city of peace celebrations, while London was letting herself loose in the abandonment of joy over the end of the war, Dublin appeared to be emphasizing Ireland's desire to independence by ignoring the great march.

Half an hour later, when I walked down the point where Lord Dunsany's funeral procession was taking place, I was struck by the fact that the Sinn Féin were not in the procession and felt inclined to modify my first impression to the extent of thinking that some at least of the Sinn Féin were not Sinn Féin.

Two hours later, after having counted 16,000 men march past the Grafton Hotel, I was struck by the fact that there was a very large element of the population which, while it is entirely loyal to the British empire, and totally opposed to anything like an independent republic, is spent most of the time during the summer vacation in passing in College Green and

Protect Spendthrifts

IF YOU want to absolutely protect any one of your heirs and to secure to them completely the principal and income of their inheritance, you can do so by making what is known as a "Spendthrift Trust."

By such an arrangement you can prevent sale, assignment, transfer or other alienation of either principal or interest. You can also prevent both principal and interest from being subjected to payment of your heirs' debts, either past, present or future.

Our Trust Officers will be glad to talk over this important subject with you.

STEAMER REACHES SAN DIEGO; MANY SIBERIAN HEROES TOO WEAK TO WALK.

SAN DIEGO, July 20.—Greeted with music and cheers from a crowd of several thousand persons, the steamship Archer from Vladivostok landed here today with nearly 2000 Czech-Slovak troops, heroes of fighting in Siberia, both against the German and Russian Bolsheviks.

More than 100 of the men were weak from wounds, illness and privations that they had to be carried on stretchers from the steamer to a train which was waiting on the municipal pier to take them to Camp Kearney, where it is planned to hold them at least for a few days of rest.

Those who could walk were helped to the train by the city's fire department, and the number contained many who the Red Cross nurses said ought to be carried, marched and taken to another train a few hundred feet away and also bound for the camp.

The Czech-Slovaks returned the cheers of the crowd with vigor. Eleven nurses and workers of the American Red Cross accompanied the troops in the Archer. The Czech-Slovak contingent contained sixteen officers.

As the steamer was being tied up to the pier, the Czech-Slovaks lined up at the rail and sang a new song written by one of their number to commemorate the downfall of German imperialism and militarism. When the last notes had come from the visitors' throats, the marchers then broke into a great cheer.

BIG HOTELS TO CLOSE.

Two Famous Hostels are Hit by National Prohibition Wave.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BOSTON, July 20.—Two big Boston hotels will be forced to close their doors as the result of wartime prohibition on cutting into their patronage that they cannot afford to continue in business any longer.

They are the Georgian in Park Square, popular with the smart set, and for after-theater parties, and the Revere House, in Bowdoin Square, one of the city's oldest and best-known hostels.

Nearly thirty other hotels, cafes, near hotels and restaurants, their business at a standstill on account of the advent of prohibition, will follow suit within a month, it was learned on good authority.

The Georgian closes Thursday night, W. E. Smith, proprietor, hopes to reopen September 1, providing the liquor-selling ban is removed.

The Revere House, so intimately interwoven with the history of Boston, so linked with the names of great men, statesmen, authors, diplomats, politicians and famous personages of America and Europe, will also close its doors next week.

JOHN S. STEELE.

ONCE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.

DUBLIN, July 20.—When I arrived in Dublin yesterday morning, I found the city in a state of unusual excitement.

The atmosphere was one of joy and triumph, and the streets were filled with people who were celebrating the recent victory of the Irish Republic.

At the same time, there was a sense of relief and satisfaction among the people, who had long been oppressed by British rule.

The celebration was a testament to the strength of the Irish Republic and the determination of its people to achieve independence.

It was a day of great significance for the Irish people, and it was a day that they would never forget.

FISHING GOOD AT REDONDO.

Nothing else to do, the fisher jumped into his anti-aircraft gasoline chariot, vintage of 1918, and yesterday steeled his nerves for a day of fishing on the coast. He got what he wanted, and immediately ran up to the beach to report his success. The fisher was not disappointed. He caught a large fish, and he was not alone. He was joined by a large number of other fishers, and they all caught fish. The fisher was not alone. He was joined by a large number of other fishers, and they all caught fish.

YACHT RACES AT BEACH.

The yacht and motorboat races at the Redondo Beach regatta on Sunday, July 20, were attracting large crowds. The two classes of motorboats, the 100 and 150 horsepower, were the main attractions. The 100 horsepower class was won by the "Plover," and the 150 horsepower class was won by the "Plover." The yacht races were also very popular, and the "Plover" was the favorite.

REPRESENTATIVE GUN CLUB SHOOT.

As usual a large turnout was registered at the Los Angeles Gun Club yesterday in the post meridian. Upon the return next Sunday from the north of Fred Stone the shoot will be dedicated to him. Fred Crandall loves to do the off-shoot, and a better booster for shooting is hard to find. The results of the day's shoot follow:

ANGELS FLOP TIGERS TWICE.

brilliant throw took a long time oozing out through the exits, and grew less brilliant as the bugs streamed on another's legs, dimming the 15-cent shines.

MORNING GAME.

A change of parks had a deleterious effect on Bob Fisher. Realizing that all the balls would be hit inside the arena, Bob seemed to have doubts as to his ability to care for everything that came his way, and the psychological effect of this was to make him boot two in the first. Bob can change his clothes on Sunday morning without its affecting his mind, but it seems that he cannot change ball parks. His doings in the field were not so good. He failed to mobilize his place in front of the batters, and both of them proved to be duds.

SOAKS RED.

Mitchell started by soaking Killifer. Fabricius beat Mitchell, and all hands were spared when Fisher changed his style and beat out a ball while Meusel was waiting in vain for it to roll forth. Fisher failed to mobilize his place in front of the batters, and both of them proved to be duds.

CRANDALL DOUBLED IN THE SECOND.

Fourier's double off Finneran, and out a hit by Kenworthy saved the Angels their final in the eighth. Boston's Edgerton and Vernon pitched good ball and the Angels could get but one tally over Tom.

ANGELS TO BE STRENGTHENED.

Los Angeles is not to stand pat on its present line-up. At least, the pitching staff will be bolstered.

WITH VIC ALDRIDGE NURSING A LAME ARM, AND TOM HUGHES STILL UNDER TREATMENT.

Angels, it they are to keep in front with the fast pace being set by the Tigers and others, must have additional strength in the box. "Get another pitcher, or two if Killifer wants them," was the terse order of Powers as he left his office last night. And Jim Morley, to whom he was speaking, immediately got busy on the wire.

TRAINER FINLEY STATED THAT HUGHES IS COMING ALONG IN GOOD SHAPE, BUT POWERS WILL TAKE NOTHING FOR GRANTED.

The race is tightening, the pace is terrific, and he wants the right now, the Tigers are required strength immediately. Near to have the better balanced club of the two, and Esick has his men at top speed.

SEALS TAKE TWO FROM TAIL-ENDERS.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—San Francisco won twice today and took the series, 5 to 1 from Seattle. Both games were hard-fought. In the morning "Spider" Baum held the Swashes to one scratch hit in the ninth with two out while Reagan pitched good ball and the Seals could get but one tally over Tom. Seattle's good pitching was in the afternoon, but nearly lost the game through his team-mates' misplays. In the seventh with two out Schick hit a two-bagger, scoring Corhan and was scored with Fitzgerald on Hunter's line drive to right field. Seattle scored its two runs on Caney's wild throw over second. The score:

OKLAHOMA DROP BOOSTS PRICES.

Great Light Oil Pools Near Exhaustion Point?

However, New Fields Make up, in Part, for Loss.

Okmulgee Shows Signs Now of Steady Production.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE)

TULSA (Okla.) July 17.—Oklahoma's daily production for the last week in June was 219,000 barrels.

This is about 3000 barrels more than that of Northern and Central Texas, and 70,000 barrels less than that of the entire State, the Gulf region included.

Of Oklahoma's production, 37,000 barrels came from Cushing and Shamrock, 37,000 from Healdton, and 12,000 from Glenn.

The output of Cushing represents a decline to 12 per cent. of the highest figure reached by this pool back in 1915, 300,000 barrels daily.

The oil is 45 gravity, and is considered to have been the best gasoline-making oil up to that time, found outside of Pennsylvania.

Its big falling off was named by Secretary Lane in his report to Congress as one of the main reasons for the rise in the price of gasoline.

The loss of Cushing oil is now being offset by Ranger and Burkburnett, although these pools have not reached the enormous figures attained by Cushing at its best.

Neither have other Oklahoma pools fully made up for the losses at Cushing.

Nor is Cushing the only Oklahoma light oil pool that has dropped to 12 per cent. of its best in years gone by.

Glenn is now producing but 15,000 barrels, compared to its best record of 125,000 barrels. Bartlesville, too, has dropped off.

Oklahomans call Healdton oil

"heavy," and of "low gravity." In California it would be considered a very high-grade light product. It tests 30 gravity. "Light" and "heavy" applied to oil is of widely varying meanings.

The Healdton oil is not so rich in gasoline as Cushing, but it is valuable for lubricants and fuel oil. Here all fuel oil is a refinery product. Healdton oil so far holds its own well.

North and Central Texas appear to be a continuation of Oklahoma. The question naturally then comes up: Is not there a lesson for Texas in the way that Oklahoma's great light oil pools have fallen off? It may be noted, also, that Pennsylvania has gone through the same experience, and the North and Central Texas formation is much like Pennsylvania. On the other hand, it may be noted that notwithstanding the falling off to a fraction of its former production, Oklahoma is still producing and the price of her oil is soaring.

NEW FIELD AT HEWITT. At a depth of 3000 feet, the Texas Company has brought in a 200-barrel well at Hewitt, near Ardmore. Two or three new rigs have already been erected in the area of the new well, which is a wildcat, extending the Healdton field, and also uncovering a new and deeper sand, penetrating to a depth of 1200 feet.

Healdton wells go about 1200 feet, and are quickly and easily finished, and so no effort has been made to locate the sand, the existence of which has long been suspected.

The Hewitt oil is higher grade than the bulk of Healdton, and will sell for $2.25 per barrel.

Just at this time, Okmulgee, south of Tulsa, is attracting much attention. Until lately this territory has been somewhat disappointing, because of the almost universal early fall-off of its wells.

Of late, however, a number of its wells have been holding up remarkably well. The last week in June saw the coming in of a 750-barrel producer. Recently a deep test was drilled to 3500 feet and developed a new sand, getting a production of about seventy-five barrels.

Tale, the New England Oil Company in drilling a deep test, ran into what is called a Mississippi type formation, and developed oil. The well has just been deepened to 3500 feet and is flowing 500 barrels daily.

The last week in June also saw brought in a 600 and a 350-barrel well in Cotton county, a 300-barrel well in Stephens county, 300-barrel wells in Tulsa and Muskogee counties, and a 175-barrel well in Caddo county.

But the greatest record, by far, was in Oxy county, sixty days north, where there were three big wells brought in, with initial capacities of 1500, 1000 and 800 barrels respectively.

Thus, the new Oxy production started off as much as that of all the others mentioned.

The outlook now shows how Oklahoma is bringing in wells to offset a falling off in older producers.

The State is very rich in oil, with standing the turning of so much attention to Texas. For the present, Oklahoma's oil is not a worry about new discoveries.

Everybody is quite sure that the blame. Bonuses are about like those of California; no Burkburnett figures being paid or expected.

NO LAXITY WITHDRAWALS. The Indian lands have always been a source of much trouble to Oklahoma operators, because of the government's stinginess in leasing the land to the Indians, who are wards of the nation, but the Indian lands have saved Oklahoma from the harm which have done so much harm in California and Wyoming.

DESERT COUNTRY SEES BIG MINING BOOM.

SILVER STRIKE NEAR RANDSBURG ATTRACTS PROSPECTORS FROM ALL DIRECTIONS.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE)

BAKERSFIELD, July 18.—That the desert country will again be the center of a mining boom is indicated by the showing that is being made near Randsburg in the silver mine recently located by former Sheriff John W. Kelley, Hamp Williams and John Nesser.

The mine is now owned by the Rand Divide Mining Company, in which the late mentioned, and other Bakersfield men and women, are large stockholders.

That the mine is a money-making proposition, a few weeks ago was a mere prospect, is now worth more than $500,000 is indicated by the sale yesterday of a seven sixteenth interest by Miss Edith Coons and Mrs. J. W. Kelly for $50,000.

It is said that the owners have refused $100,000 for the property and no stock will be issued or placed on the market.

The mine is now shipping about three carloads of ore a week, each bringing a net profit of $2400.

The mine is within 400 yards of the railroad and water has been piped across the property for years.

There is little expense at the mine as every shovelful of ore turned brings double the amount expended, it is said.

Randsburg is seeing a revival of its old times when the Yale and Arizona was running at its best. Miners and prospectors are coming in from every direction and several smaller "finds" have been made on leases taken from the Rand Divide Company.

Indications are that a mining revival will result which will be equal to the boom of a few years ago.

IN BRITISH COLUMBIA. A company known as the Platinum Mining and Development Company, capitalized at $750,000, which was recently organized by a group of Los Angeles capitalists, control has secured of three leases on platinum and gold placer claims in the Stikine mining divisions of the Yale district of British Columbia.

Platinum is one of the rarest metals in the world, and is quoted today at $100 per ounce, five times the price of gold, according to the company's officials.

The officers of the new company are: E. E. Emmons, president; S. W. Beatty, vice-president; H. M. Foster, secretary-treasurer; and Randall J. Hood, attorney.

OIL SLUMPS FOR PIPE LINE LACK.

Drop in Market Value of Leases is Sudden.

Cessation of Drilling for Sixty Days Talked Of.

Desdemona Field may Eclipse Others in Output.

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

AUSTIN (Tex.) July 20.—What may be said to be the first critical stage in the development of the crude oil industry in the Central West Texas fields has now been reached.

True to the predictions and warnings that were made and sounded several weeks ago by the Magnolia Petroleum Company and other conservative and large operators, the wild rush of drilling wells has ceased suddenly.

Within the next few weeks, as a consequence of there being an average of only one or two 50,000 barrels a day in excess of pipe-line and rail transportation facilities, the complete cessation of all drilling operations is being talked of.

While this is not regarded as an inevitable contingency, the effect of the overproduction has already brought losses to some speculators.

The drop in the market value of oil lease rights to land in the producing territory has been sudden and entirely unexpected so far as the owners were concerned.

The demand for leasehold has not been met, and the market value of the leasehold has been found that there was no outlet for new production.

It is thought that this phase of the situation will be temporary, and that lease values will return to their former high standard.

When the product again begins to move freely through additional pipe lines and gathering systems that are certain to be provided in due time, the complete cessation of all drilling operations in the Burkburnett and outlying pools for a period of sixty days, by order of the State Railroad Commission, is one of the remedies that are being considered.

At the present rate of constructing new pipe lines and connecting up the wells, the problem of taking care of the production will be solved within the next two months, provided the extensive drilling campaign is under way.

Additional steel storage tanks are also being ordered, and it is expected that the situation can be handled by the railroads and laid upon the ground.

VIEWED IN TWO LIGHTS. According to information received by the Railroad Commission, the situation in the Burkburnett territory is viewed in two different lights by oil men.

The element that is opposed to any cessation in drilling is the element that is in favor of a stoppage of work comes chiefly from companies that have brought in dry holes in outlying territory and that they are anxious for drilling operations to cease in order that they may get rid of their losses.

Discovery is made that the wells are non-producing.

It is pointed out by the larger operators that they are just as anxious to eliminate the disastrous effects of oil in the market as the smaller operators are.

They point out that there is a market for all the existing production, and that if it were not for the fact that the market is so small, it would be a matter of wise business policy to accept them.

HUNT FOR OIL IS UNABATED.

Even Conservative Companies are Wildcating.

Abandoned Wells Being Tried All Over Again.

California's Only Rival Now is North Texas.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE)

TAFT, July 18.—The middle of July finds a noticeable activity in every section of California oil fields, with many companies busy on proven territory or wildcating.

Many of the oldest and most conservative companies in the State are even leading the wildcat work, and, fortunately for themselves and the oil industry, are meeting with success.

In Southern California there are more than fifty oil companies at work, and every part of this territory is enjoying the great prosperity of the oil industry.

In the Midway-Sunset and Kern River fields, much new work is being planned, while the Standard in the Elk Hills and near the Kern River field are adding materially to the drilling operations.

In many localities where wells were drilled several years ago and abandoned, operators are going back, trying again with more up-to-date equipment and sinking deeper holes.

The wells recently drilled in the Elk Hills by the Standard are holding up to production, while in the south some of the big wells are making most astonishing production.

A few days ago the Chapman well was making 3700 barrels. The output has gradually increased until it is now doing better than 4000 barrels, this great volume of oil coming through a seven-eighths-inch opening.

A feature well of Kern county is the one now drilling by the Associated Oil Company, which has been drilled on Section 2-25-26 in the Lost Hills field. It is already down over 2000 feet, and it is expected that it will be one of the deepest producers in the county.

Near Santa Maria in Cat Canyon on land leased by the Palmer Union a gusher came in recently, spreading a pool of heavy black fluid hundreds of feet wide on the surrounding land. This well was the first of a series of wells being drilled at the rate of 15,000 barrels a day, due to a large charge of nitroglycerine which exploded eight hours of hard work to cap the well and now it is producing 1200 barrels of 1 to 11 gravity oil a day.

Figures compiled for east of the Rockies show that there were over 2500 completions in June with over a quarter of a million barrels per day. The greater increased production came from North Texas, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Kansas.

Oklahoma and Wyoming reported the biggest loss of production. Much is expected by large oil operators from Marion and Butler counties in Kansas, where several gushers have recently been brought in.

TEXAS OILS

The many new wells brought in within the last two weeks, have brought about a renewal of buying apparently of greater volume than at any former period of the Texas activity.
